Storyline: A young couple is arrested for the murder of their daughter. They get released after 16 years in prison. How will they react when they learn that their daughter is alive? Rating: * Top Ten Tuesday is an original feature/weekly meme created at The Broke and the Bookish. This meme was created because we are particularly fond of lists at The Broke and the Bookish. We'd love to share our lists with other bookish folks and would LOVE to see your top ten lists! Every week we will post a new Top Ten list- either a video, photo, book, movie, or food related! This week's topic is: Top 10 Films about Women's Rights I'd like to preface this list with the fact that I love watching movies, and I love movies about women's rights. So, I've decided to combine the two. This list will not be in any order, but I will attempt to rank each movie in order of best to worst. (you may disagree with some of these) Feel free to disagree and comment! Hathiyaragin Neerajakum (2013) Director: Sukanya Verma Cast(s): Sambhavna Seth, Naseeruddin Shah.
